WON'T PRINT FULTON'S BOOK.

WOMEN COMPOSITORS IN BOSTON INDIG-NANT AT INDECENT "COPY."

Rand, Avery & Company Decide to Break a Contract Rather Than to Print a Work Which They Think is Unfit for the Eyes usiness Interrupted by Clamoring People.

[SPECIAL TO THE WORLD.]
BOSTON, Dec. 12.—Rand, Avery & Co., printers, authorize the publication of the following letter

Rev. Justin D. Fulton, D.D., yesterday, at Music Hall, before perhaps 4,000 people, made the most remarkable attack upon this house ever heard in the history of any printing house in America, and, however much we may wish to remain alient, it seems necessary to place ourselves right before the public.

Dr. Fulton, perhaps, can afford, for the sake of Dr. Fulton, perhaps, can afford, for the sake of advertising his book, to take the stand he has, but such notoriety is decidedly hurtful to us. We know that the best way to crush it is by remaining silent; but the attack has been so bold and the statements so pronounced that already we are beginning to feel the effect upon our business. This alone would justify us in placing this peculiar controversy before the public, for this is evidently no ordinary quarrel.

DENOUNCED AS COWARDS.

DENOUNCED AS COWARDS.

Here's a celebrated preacher laying before the public not only his grievances, but publicly denouncing as cowards the managers of one of the largest, oldest and most honorable printing and publishing establishments of this country. A company with a record of almost fifty years—whose name is interwoven into the history of American literature—whose imprint appears on thousands upon thousands of books devoted to religious, educational, moral, intellectual topics of every class. A corporation under the laws of Massachusetts with a paid-in capital of $250,000. employing several hundreds of people, and in every way responsible for its contracts.

Now comes this Dr. Falton and publicly proclaims that we made a contract to print his book, entitled, "Why Priests Should Wed;" that we took his manuscript and, after having it in our hands for a number of days, and after putting into type over one hundred pages, we stopped work and refused to fulfil our contract. He also says that we refuse not only to print his book, but to return his manuscript or to allow any other house to print it.

All this we admit. But we deny absolutely his print it. All this we admit. But we deny absolutely his

Dr. Fultons any the reason for our refusing to complete his book is that the Roman Catholic Church has brought such pressure to bear that we have not the courage, that we are opposed to bis dectrines, &c., that the policy of this house is dictated by the heads of the Roman Catholic Church. He has publicly called upon his audiences to incite the Protestant people of Boston to bring all possible pressure to compet us to fulfil our contract.

possible pressure to compet us to fulfil our contract.

That this is no ordinary controversy is shown to us to-day by a remarkable state of affairs. Our office has been beneged by so many men and women insisting upon our going on with this obscens work that it has almost been impossible to carry on our legitimate business. Our muit to-day has been so crowded with gailing letters instigated by this preacher that it has almost been impossible to attend to our legitimate correspondence. The majority of these letters appeal to us to go on with Dr. Fulton's books; but others threaten us if we dare go on. Think of one man being able in a single day to so disorganize the routine of a legitimate business concern that, if it continues, serious results may follow.

FACTS IN THE CASE.

PACTS IN THE CASE.

Now, what are the facts?

Dr. Fulcon made:a contract with the head of our book department for the printing of a book called 'Way Pri-sts Should Wed" before the manuscript was submitted, and really before it was wholly completed. Dr. Fulton says he supposed that we knew what the book contained; that we ought to have known from the fact that he has been preaching on this subject for sixteen weeks in this yiolinity. We did know that he was preaching on this subject for sixteen weeks in this yiolinity. We did know that he was preaching against the Roman Catholic religion, and right here we wish to place ourselves upon record as being perfectly willing to print any book for or against the Catholic Church: that is, we are a printing house; our business is to do every kind of printing for any person, provided that the mater is fit for publication. We do not take sides with any sect; making books is our business, and hardly a day passes without work being rolled of of our pres-es for both Catholics and Protestants. Only last week we made for Dr. Fulton his work called "Rome in America," a book that opposes the Roman Catholic Church fully as strongly as his "Why Priests Should Wed." We have just finished Martin Garrison's handsome "Life of Pope Leo," and also a translation of the Poue's poems. We have recently printed a book on Mormonism, and are now completing some of those gigantic twenty-six volumes of the "Ante Nicene, Nicene and Post Nicene Fathers." Dr. Schaff's famous religious encyclopædia was the recent work of this house.

From these facts it will be seen that we neither

From these facts it will be seen that we neither fear nor favor any religious sect or ism. THE WORK OBSCENE AND INDECENT.

To return to the matter of making a contract to ablish a book without going through the manu-cript. This we did on the strength of Dr. Fulton's reputation as a preacher, never supposing for a moment that he would bring to us a work that is obscene and indecent. We have a great many books passing through our hands every day in the year, and it would be almost impossible for us to read the manuscript—in fact, it is rarely necessary.

There is a point at which we are likely to be noti-ded should anything unfit for publication acci-dentally slip in, and it was here that "Why Priests Should Wed" was caught and returned to

PENALE COMPOSITORS OBJECTED.

The superintendent of the book composing-room notified the manager that "Why Priests Should Wed" was creating considerable trouble among the female employees of our book room; that our female help thought it an outrage that we should ask them to nandie the language contained in that book. We then read the manuscript in our hands and

We then read the manuscript in our hands and decided that it was in event.

We then sent for Dr. Fulton and infermed him that his book was obscene; that we would not print it, and perhaps we used a little stronger language, for we were very insignant at the trouble he had saused us, and informed him that we would not only print the book, but that we would not only print the book, but that we would not deliver his manuscript until the question of its decemy had been decided upon.

We were aware in doing this that we had laid ourselves liable for damages, ago we informed Da.
Fulton that he had placed us in a very bad posttion.

On the one hand the printing and carrying out of our contract would place us in a false light, not only before the public, but before our own work-people; on the other, we have made a contract which under no ordinary circumstances would we breath the product of the pro

RELIGION NOTHING TO DO WITH THE CASE. But the religious part of the matter has had nothing to do with the case. As to the pressure from the Roman Catholic churches, we have had hone; that is, we had had none up to the time of informing Dr. Fulion that we would not go on with his work. As to his charge of cowardice, we have merely to say that we are breaking the contract Only because we think we have no right morally to fulfilit; if we thought we had that right we believe the citizens of Hoston know us well enough te know that we would fulfil the same regardless of consequences.

REGARD FOR EMPLOYERS.

BEGARD FOR RMPLOTERS.

It is but a few days since we were called upon to show ourselves. The printers of the country had made what we knew to be an unjust demand; we knew that it would be impossible to accede to those demands without jeopardizing their interests as well as our own, and we were almost the only printing establishment in Boston that learlessly stood out and rejused to accede to those unjust demands regardless of what the consequences might be; and to-day we have the courage to say that, believing we are right in this matter, we will break our contrast rather than force our help to handle language that is unot, in our opinion, to be read by respectable men and women.

BOSTON CITIZENS STIRRED UP. We also have the courage to say to to Dr. Fulton and to the public to-day—that is, if it is shown that this book. "Why Priests Should Wed." owing to the most vee of its unquestionably sincers and derout author is fit for public tion—we will not only recode from our position of printing the book, but as our action in this matter has caused Dr. Fulton to lose his publisher, we will publish the book for him and make good to him any pecuniary damages he has austained.

We know, probably better than any one clae in this city, how much courage it takes to do this, for we have had evidence to-day that this matter has stirred some clizens of Boston and suburban towns to their very depths, and we know that whoever prints or pusitabes this book will do so at great perit to himself. Still, we are forced to make this offer, as we to-day are placed in a light of deliberately breaking our contract, and we know that only one thing will justify us in doing this—that one thing is to prove that the book is not only unfit for us to print, but is unfit for any establishment in America to print.

HEAVY DAMAGE BY FIRE.

One Hundred Girls Thrown Out of Work by a Blaze in Greene Street.

Eight-year-old Mary Dull had just got her fathing across the way, she saw that the seven-story building 168 Greene street was on fire.

Three alarms were sent out. The flames attended to the three upper floors, while the water pumped in by the firemen did the business for the stock in the rest of the building.

The damage is heavy. Hayes & Paul, dress trimmings, in whose premises the fire originated, estimated their damage at $15,000.

The water is two inches deep on the second and third floors, occupied by Hirsch & Sons, furs, and the firm estimates their loss at $20,000.

Schoresiene Brothers, agents for Emile Huber & Co., of Paris, occupied the ground floor and basement for the sale of plush goods. Their loss by water is about $15,000.

The building is owned by Studdecker & Emsheimer, and is damaged $16,000. All are insured.

At I o'clock this morning 100 girls tramped along Greene street on their way to work, and were loud in their lamentations when they saw their shops in charge of the insurance patrol and police, and their employment gone. The universal expression was: "This is not a very merry Christmas." Three alarms were sent out. The flames at-

New York Markets.

WHRAT.—There was considerable pressure to sell at the opening to-day after the obsastrous break of yesterday, and prices opened & down, with 'Jan. at 804; Feb., 806; March. 918, and May at 938.

The feeling after the opening, nowever, was firner, and towards noon there was a slight raily and fractional advances were made on a comparatively dull market. Corn and oats were dull and feetureless in the speculative-lines.

Cornow.—Although the cables were not particularly bunish, the market opened firm at about yesterday's closing figures—Jan., 10,58; Feb., 10.68; and March at 10.78. After the opening there was an advance of 2 points, when the market became steady and fairly active. Late in the forenoon, however, there was a reaction and prices receded to 10,56 for Jan.; Feb., 10.66; March, 10,76; April, 10,84; May, 10,92, and June, 10,98.

COPPEE.—Advices from Havre were very beartish 10-day, and on a decline of 1½ francs in the French market futures opened here at a decline of 5 a 10 points on the near and 80 a 56 points on the distant months as compared with last night's closing prices. Quotations were: Jan., 15,60; Feb., 15,45; March, 15,40; April, 16,20; May, 15,15; June, 15,00. After the opening the market was end prices were recorded.

PETHOLEUM.—Oil was firm to-day in the speculative lines, though the market was combaratively dull and without feature. Certificates sold at 17½ at the opening and the range during the forenoon was 70; a 17½. At noon the price was 77.

Live Stock.—No fresh offerings of beeves; no market for cattle. Dressed beef firm for good to chooke, duil for common. Native sides sold at 8%6, a 1%c, p. 74. P., with selections at 7%c, a 8c. Colorado and Texas do. at 4%c, a 8%d. Exports:

choice, dull for common. Native sides sold at 55c. a 75c. by 7 lb., with selections at 75c. a 8c. Colorado and Texas do. at 45c. a 55c. Fxports: 230 beeves and 1,550 quarters of beef. To-day's Liverpool cable quotes American refrigerator beef slow at 8c. per lb.

Calves were steady at 5c. a 85c. per lb. for veals and 25c. a 55c. for grassers and "fed" calves. Only 160 calves arrived. Sheep and lamba, with 2,555, fresh offerings, were slow at bately steady prices. tain, Warden Thomas P. Weish, William F. Couran, John Hainan, Peter Delacey, George Solomon, Nicholas Organ, Patrick Wolf and Assemblyman Timothy D. Sullivan.

The Second Assembly District organization of the County Demogracy, the James H. Driscoil Association and the Sullivan Association were out in a body and formed a crowd of 260 men.

The remains were followed to the church by Mr. and Mrs. John O'Leary, Mr. and Mrs. John Kennedy, of Houcken, the relatives of Mr. Harrigan.

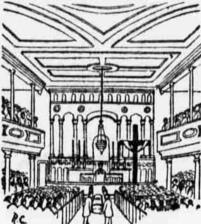

The casket was a "Vanderbilt" casket with extension handles, and it bore a heavy, solid silver piate on which was read:

There followed the mourning party out of the house, attendants bearing a score of handsome foral designs, the offerings of as many friends and organizations.

These were not taken to the church, a recent order of the church forbidding it; but they were placed in two open carriages.

Among the pieces were a broken column, seven feet high, from the County Democracy; a dwagn from John O'Leary; a pillow, bearing the word "Companion," from Peter Delacey; an anesor from the J. H. Driscoil Association; a small column from little Neilie Driscoll, Mr. Hartigan's grandniece; a cross from Senator storphy; a lyre and wreaths and smaller designs in profusion.

from the J. H. Driscoil Association; a small column from little Neille Driscoil, Mr. Hartigan's graudnice; a cross from Senator Marphy; a lyre and wreaths and smaller designs in profusion.
The procession moved slowly down the centre aisle of the church and the caset was placed on a catafalque between two rows of tall tapers.
The Paulist Fathers have been holding a mission in the church and the cross used by them, which reaches almost to the root and was draped in black, still stood at the left of the attar.

'Ah! Heaven rest his soul!" exclaimed an old woman who sells apples in Cuy Hall Park and who had arrived inte, and she devoutly crossed herself and knell in the aisle an instant before taking her seat. Then she told the beads on her rosary; each bead representing a trayer for the repose of the soul of Jetre Hartigan.

The soll mn requiem in se was conducted by the Rev. Dr. Woosa, The Rev. Father Hopper, of the Paulist order, as sub-licacon. Father McGann was the master of certamones and there were twelve after boys.

The requiem mass was song by the choir, Mrs. J. Driffennsch singtog the solo in a rich soprano voice. E. C. M. Cranan, bass, and J. Muller, tenor, took part, and Charles Wels was the organist. Harry F. Liohr was chief maher and was assisted by J. J. O'Hrien.

The mourners were composed of people from every walk of Hig.

Among those noticed in the crowd were:
Martin J. Keese, janitor of the City Hall; James Sullivan, a book publisher; James H. Driscoli, fithe District-Attorney's office; Bartholemew Crosin janitor of the General Sessione Building; Bartholomew G. After the service the body was again taken up and carried along the alse and out of the church. It was placed in a stately hearse drawn by four coal-black horses. From urns on the heave nodded six great black plumes, and when the vocession moved opty carriages laden with those who wished to pay the last honor to Jerry Hartigan followed the remains to Caivary Cemetery.

"Johnny Lookup" Gallagher attended Jerry Hartigan's funeral, and, as usual, marched with the hearse, just at the hirses' heads.

He was quickly conveyed to his home, where Ds. W. E. Allen, his family physician, was waiting. The doctor remained with Mr. Powderly the greater part of the afternoon.

Mr. Powderly's condition was serious until an early hour this morning then he rallied, and to-day he is resting quietly. He is much enfeebled and nobody but his physician and femily is allowed to see him.

Dr. Allen says that Mr. Powderly is tired and worn out, and that the attack was due to his constant travelling by rail and water and the great extent of the work and the lecturing he has been doing.

The doctor has directed that Mr. Powderly shall remain quiet for a few days, and thinks, with the rest gained thereby, he will soon recover.

Mr. Powderly has suffered considerable herefore with quinsy and other throat diseases, but his present llineas was the most sudden and severe that he has hitherto undergone.
